

It's 2011 and a couple of things hold true for all of us:

1. We all wish there were more hours in the day.
2. We all need to learn new skills.

But how can we learn new skills if we don't have the time?

Internexia has been working closely with corporations and colleges in Malaysia for over ten years to tackle

Some training companies offer class-based training. Some companies offer online training. Internexia offers

Why would anyone want to do both online and class-based learning? Both styles of learning have their advantages

According to a 2009 meta study from the US Department of Education: “Students who took all or part of
